SERVICE TIP

Did you know that you should be lubing your regulator every 50-100hrs? Have you noticed your machine losing more than 100 psi when hitting the trigger on your tool or maybe your pressure fluctuates when it shouldn't? All of these things can be avoided or often remedied by simply lubing the o-rings in your regulator.

The illustration shows a diagram of the most common style regulator but even if yours is different the process is still the same. It is recommended to use a synthetic grease like Super Lube which can be found at your local NSN dealer. As always if you need assistance in doing this call us today to schedule an appointment and we will be glad to do it for you!
